RELEVANCY OF COURSE FOR CAREER PURPOSES:

If death and taxes are the only sure things in this life, then this course prepares the student for at least two inevitables. All successful lawyers represent successful clients who have potentially complex probate and estate tax problems. Because of the universality of death and wealth accumulation and preservation, issues related to this course surface in literally all forms and areas of legal practice. Even the poor and disadvantaged die and become physically or mentally disabled, so the course’s relevancy is not confined to wealthy clients.

RELEVANCY OF COURSE FOR MISSOURI BAR EXAM PREPARATION:

Always tested on the Missouri Bar. Common questions involve intestacy, wills, trusts, minors and incompetents.
